Course Registration Information

Target Students

This course is designed for intermediate level Japanese learners.
Students are strongly recommended to have completed Upper-Elementary Japanese Kanji and Vocabulary AB or to possess equivalent proficiency (Intermediate level on the CIE J Test).
Since this course assumes prior knowledge of upper-elementary level kanji, students who have not yet reached this level are advised to take the upper-elementary course first.

Related Courses

Before taking this class, it is recommended that you take "Intermediate Japanese Kanji and Vocabulary A."

Exchange students (special auditing students) are eligible to register.

Review and preparation

Preparation and Review

Students are required to study outside of class.
They must practice writing and review the kanji and vocabulary taught in class before the next lesson in preparation for quizzes.

Assignments must also be submitted as instructed.

Kobe University requires 45 hours of total study per credit, including both inclass instruction and independent study.
